The Shindig

Please RSVP your attendance for our happy-happy-joy-joy day by emailing us at kevinandria@gmail.com or calling Ria on 077089295830.

Please include the names of all attendees; including sidekicks and padawans.

Food will be provided throughout the afternoon and evening so please let us know if you have any dietary requirements when you RSVP.

Everyone is invited to both the service and reception but if you do think you might get trapped in a trash compactor, need to defeat a zombie horde or get delayed by the gorram Alliance and can only attend the reception, please let us know.

The service and reception will be held at the same venue. Please arrive at 3pm (Standard Earth GMT) prompt for a quick Pan-Galactic Gargle Blaster before the ceremony.

The blessing will start at 3.30pm and will be officiated by Grand Moff Dollar-Smirnoff. He will require the utmost respect and may demand to know the location of the sambuca. Under no circumstances must you reveal the location, even upon threat of the destruction of East London (although at least we'd be rid of most of the Earth's hipster population).

Costume

The most important part of our day is that we celebrate it with the ones we love. To make sure everyone is comfortable, including us, we'd like everyone to know that there is no dress code. Please feel free to come smart, casual, as your favourite superhero or clad in battle armour. You can even create your own superhero costume [LINK].

The only attire not allowed is that of mimes of clowns; evil buggers.

Instead of having an official photographer we are asking all of our lovely friends and family to take as many photos as desire on one of your numerous personal devices. If you would like to share them publicly please feel free to upload them or email them directly to us at kevinandria@gmail.com.

Gifts

As we are lucky to already have our headquarters up and running we have decided not to request wedding gifts. However, if you would like to mark the occasion with a gift we would very much appreciate a small contribution towards building our very own DeathStar. If you would like to contribute we will have an area for anonymous donations and cards on the day.

More than anything we hope that you can make it on the day so please do not feel obliged to give in any way.

Unless it is a kitten.
All kittens will be appreciated.
Especially ginger ones.

Our quest is over
